

AFSCME Members Visit UC President's Home & Demand He End Poverty At UC

AFSCME Members hosted and invited our new UC President, Mark Yudof, to a “Neighborhood Pancake Breakfast” high up in the expensive Oakland Hills area on Saturday where he lives. Members and supporters hoped to share his favorite food with him and hear his plans to end poverty at UC.

When President Yudof did not show, members from Santa Barbara, Santa Cruz, San Francisco and Berkeley rang the bell to Pres. Yudof’s $11,000 per month rental home to personally invite him to come out for some pancakes and talk.

No one answered, so we left a note explaining that while we know he does not have to worry about feeding his family, thousands of us do because of UC low wages. We called on him to use his power as the President of UC to end poverty wages or else we will have no choice but to keep escalating this fight.

We have and will keep showing UC Executives that they will not be able to escape the faces of poverty until they agree to fair contracts that bring and keep us out of poverty!
